

The Vulca-saurus.

Once upon a time there was a very big bad volcano. He looked like he was very furious because he was always frowning.

When he was angry his face turned orange. He had steam blowing out of his big ears.

The vulca- saurus Loves to destroy the Beautiful lands because he wants the land to be shaped his way and to keep people away.

He wants to turn the lovely colourful World black.

He sounded like he was really dangerous. Roaring and rumbling, rocks spewing out of his mouth like fireworks.

Vulca-saurus hated people touching him and living near him. If anyone tried to get near him he will erupt and explode. People would run away from him screaming like they were going to die.

When he finally erupts his lava destroys the land. The beautiful plants and animals all die in his heat. The land is destroyed and It is changed forever and ever.

By Tehila

